DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Species I, claims 7 and 10, is directed to a rotatable device with a plurality of sections to adjust a rate of rotation to control an amount of dosed chips.

Species II, claims 8, 9, 11, and 12, is directed to two conveyors where a ratio of chips carried on a first is diverted and carried by a second conveyor.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Art Unit: 3653

The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Species I: claims 7 and 10.

Species II: claims 8, 9, 11, and 12.

The following claim(s) are generic: 1-6.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

Species I corresponds to figure 3, and Species II to figure 4. As there is nothing novel in separating and dosing pin chips, in general, the entire inventive concept comes down to the manner of dosing. As this manner of dosing is given two different, alternative embodiments which cannot be used together, are disclosed as distinct, and are represented in different figures, they cannot be considered the same invention.

The special technical features are:

Species I: rotatable device.

Species II: first and second conveyors.

Applicant is reminded that, regardless of traversal and/or subject matter potentially pertaining thereto, the response to this action must comprise an election.
